JOE

MEET JOE

Joe Parker has been immersed in the business of Comedy for most of his adult working life and has certainly stimulated a lot of debate wherever he has worked due to his choice of subject matter! He has also been a mentor and guide to almost all of the comedians working in South Africa today, plus some that no longer live in this country – Trevor Noah is one that falls into this category!

Over the years, Joe has been a keen student of the psychology behind laughter and has gathered a substantial amount of knowledge and insight regarding the benefits of humour as a communication and therapeutic tool. He has delivered a number of talks on the subject utilising skills learned during the many hours spent on stages entertaining audiences all over South Africa and abroad. This is where he sees his future public appearances heading.

He is a confident and amusing Master of Ceremonies who can tailor-make his role to suit most occasions.
